

What am I looking at worksheet

- When I see a thing, like a phone a laptop or a car with someone else which I have been longing for:

Everybody has some dreams to buy and get those things they have been longing for but getting that thing on what time is fixed by our fate, when we look at those things which are with other people but not with us we may feel down and gloomy but in our heart we should be sure that our time will come if we work hard for it, we will get it one day even if its late but it will happen must.

- When I look at people having stable relationship with their partner but I don't feel the same with my partner:

The relationship with your partner is always the most close relation you have, indeed everybody is sensitive about that relation but one must know that people usually show what they want to, who will show a bad side in front of everyone? It is normal to have ups and downs in a relationship but working on the differences is a real strength. So whenever we see couples happy, we should work on our relationship and realize that they also have some differences with each other but they work on it.

- When I look my best friend hanging out with others and leaving me behind alone:

- When I look at my loved ones praising others, loving other I feel:
